

One of a Kind Jacket Class with Mary Sue Fenner

The Champaign Urbana Spinners and Weavers are pleased to offer an exciting workshop in October 2019. There are only ten spaces available for this workshop, so we are making this early announcement and giving you an opportunity to save your place.

Participants will bring enough handwoven fabric to make a jacket during the 3-day workshop. Using a commercial pattern, they will receive help from Mary Sue with fitting and alterations. They will leave the workshop with a beautiful, useful garment made from their own handwoven fabric.

Leader: Mary Sue Fenner

Mary Sue has 40 years of experience teaching weavers to sew garments with their handwoven fabric. She has taught at Siever's School of Fiber Arts and has offered numerous workshops for Wisconsin Handweavers and at Midwest Weavers Conference.

Dates: October 4, 5 and 6, 2019

Place: Threads of Time, Danville, IL

Cost: $225 will be due at the point of registration. When final costs of travel and lodging have been determined, no more than $100 more may be assessed. Cancellations that occur later than ????? will incur a $25.00 fee.

This fee covers the instructor's expenses and the cost of three nights lodging at Threads of Time. It will also cover the use their equipment, including cutting tables, irons, etc. Participants will each bring their own sewing machine. More information about meals will be distributed closer to the event.

We will keep a waiting list.
